

AND, SHOULD I GAIN, WHAT THEN THE PRIZE

Words and music by
James L. Clark

Tune Name: CAIN
8.8.8.8. [D]

1. And, should I gain, what then the prize If truth is slain to re - a - lize,
2. May I re - strain my car - nal role Of mak - ing gain this life's main goal,

And make me Cain, with greed ob - sessed, Com - pelled, so vain, to be self-blessed?
In - flict - ing pain if some a - spire To be the bane of my em - pire;

Or, if I gain at o - thers' cost And feel no pain at what is lost,
May I then chain my world - ly bent To God's do - main, from where He sent

Would I then deign to join God's feast In my dis - dain for God's the least?
To drive out Cain, the Christ, God's son, To make it plain that right be done.
