

MORNING, EVENTIDE, MIDNIGHT

Words and Music by James L. Clark

Tune Name: INVITATION
8.8.8.8.[D]

1. Through morn-ing - time in days of strength, When all things rhyme in end-less
2. At e - ven - tide, as days grown brief Through time and tide mark loss and
3. In mid-night black of dy - ing flame When pain may rack the earth-bound length, When un - tried soul yet bears no care, God minds the whole - the dark and grief, And man of years is weak or strong, God sees his fears - his right and frame, When no - thing rhymes in end - less length, God of all times yet of - fers fair; When night-time scenes seem far - a - way And self-ish means may rule the day, wrong; When night-time scenes are draw - ing near And e - go means seem not so clear, strength; When night-time scenes are in their place And hu - man means have lost the race,

Milk-fed con - ceit, though young or old, God of - fers meat for strength un - told.
God still ex - tends His arm of strength, which nev - er bends in end - less length.
As close as breath, God ho - vers near, De - feat - ing death, re - liev - ing fear.

